

Summertime....

Summer officially starts in June, but if you live in Southwest Florida, it feels like summer lasts about 10 months. With that being said, the summer season brings many different events, such as the end of school, family vacation time, beach time, and home improvement projects. In 2020, do-it-yourself projects spiked up sharply during the pandemic, but have recently dipped due to the country and state "re-opening." More people have gotten back to a "normal" sense of living and spending money in different areas. The summer of 2022 is forecasted to be a big year for travel, but with the current gas prices and flight prices surging, this could dampen peoples' plans to travel.

If your travel plans do change, homeowners can use this upcoming summer season as an opportune moment to spend some time working around the house. If you are not sure how to proceed with a project, you can always get good advice from one of our customer service reps here at Kimal Lumber. We can give you an overview of the different options and help you choose the best one for your needs. We can also supply guidance on specific skills, materials, and techniques that will result in a finished product that meets your expectations. So, If your plan is to invest in a project for your residence this summer, Kimal Lumber is always ready and willing to help our customers with the home improvement project you wish.

Projects such as:

- Upgrade your residence with new windows and sliding glass doors
- Replace your interior and exterior doors
